

In an effort to help ensure that students and other trainees in the Department are successful, we want to provide you with the necessary information and resources. When issues of concern or other problems surface, we encourage all students and other trainees to speak with their advisor or department leadership to learn more about what resources are available to them and where you (and/or they) can find further information and help. In addition, the tables below provide information about relevant Department and University offices and other areas that may be a resource to you and your students and other trainees. Please Note: Primary resources for some particular issues of concern (e.g., Title IX/sexual misconduct concerns) are specified in the following tables.
